How Facility X turned feedback into business growth with Coram

🕒 Debrief in minutes

🛡️ Every scenario proven

📈 Drove business growth

THE CHALLENGE

Facility X is a tactical training center where law enforcement and security teams run live-fire simulations.

Before Coram, instructors relied on GoPros, handwritten notes, and manual video review to give feedback. The process took hours and missed critical failures, the kind of mistake that can lead to a bad shoot or a fatality. That's what sent them looking for something better.

THE RESULTS

Instructors now retrieve footage in seconds, freeing up time to train officers instead of reviewing video.

Debriefs cut from hours or days to minutes.

Every angle captured, with no piecing footage together by hand.

Accountability decisions backed by searchable video evidence.

Equipment tracked, admin time reduced.

Agencies now travel hours to train there, opening new lines of work.

People are willing to come from all over for multiple training days at a time. They see the technology Coram brings and how it raises the bar for their training. We've seen our business increase significantly after implementing Coram.
